Impactful materials

Material wirkt

md INTERIOR DESIGN ARCHITECTURE
in cooperation with db
Publication date: July 2024

For the fifth time, the specialist editorial teams of md and db are pooling their expertise to take an all-round look under the motto „Material wirkt“ (Impactful materials). They explore buildings where everything is just right. Projects that have been consistently planned and realised with materials in mind, both on the inside and outside.

Building in existing contexts

Bauen im Bestand

db deutsche bauzeitung
Publication date: August 2024

Topics: Energy-efficient renovations, conversions, extensions and architectural heritage conservation

Kitchens

Küche

md INTERIOR DESIGN ARCHITECTURE
Publication date: September 2024

Whether indoors or outdoors, the stove is the center of attention. The md editorial team presents projects, products and personalities that illustrate how to create a useful, elegant and perfectly fitting framework for cooks and guests.

With contributions from the fields of technology, design and impressions from a variety of living environments!

Projects that blew us away

Projekte, die uns umgehauen haben

01 Titel:	db deutsche bauzeitung
02 In brief:	In-depth architecture reviews, building culture, technical innovations, conversion and refurbishment – these are the central themes addressed by db deutsche bauzeitung, Germany's oldest and best-known dedicated architecture magazine. db identifies the key topics of the building scene, provides background knowledge, takes a stand and thus makes an active contribution to the architectural debate. For the core topic each month, db presents case studies from Germany and abroad and analyses them from the perspective of urban planning, architecture, engineering, building technology, energy and economics, supplementing this information with a series of specialist articles. The »Technik aktuell« section shows the latest technological developments and their potential applications. Questions relating to energy-efficient construction are dealt with in the »Energie« section. Due to the high relevance of the topic of building in existing contexts, the section »db-Metamorphose / Bauen im Bestand« is dedicated 4 times a year to the topics of conversion, energy-efficient renovation and architectural heritage conservation on about 30 pages.

Description	Museums, concert halls and theatres are places for creative development and give a city its identity. We focus on the use of daylight and artificial light in cultural buildings.	Intermediate shades We focus on the harmonious yet striking interplay of finely tuned, subtle tones with materials and surfaces in interiors and on facades.	Squares, streets and green spaces are essential to urban planning. How can they be designed in a climate-sensitive way to contribute to a better quality of life in public spaces?	Besides the usual functional and design aspects of roofs and facades, we explore additional functions, such as improving the climate, generating energy or acting as a means of communication.	In this year's country issue, we focus on the South of France and present the building culture with its regional characteristics, current projects and the local architectural scene.	Which material fulfils the desired function? In this special issue in collaboration with md, we look at projects whose external and/or internal impact is strongly influenced by the material used.
Sectors, in line with the theme of the issue	Floor plan design, design engineering, supporting structures, civil engineering, fittings, light, security, fire protection, acoustics, HVAC, modular design, barrier-free access, interior finishing	All materials of the building envelope (including concrete, masonry, glass, wood, plaster, ceramics); interior and exterior surfaces, interior concepts, flooring	Design of outdoor spaces, parking systems, flooring, street furniture, water systems, outdoor lighting, e-mobility, playground equipment, facades	Facades, roofs, roof greening, waterproofing, drainage, building envelope materials (e.g. concrete, masonry, natural stone, clay, wood, plaster), insulation	Different building types (e.g. residential, commercial, museums), surfaces, facades, outdoor spaces, HVAC, building automation, solar shading, kitchens, bathrooms, energy concepts	All interior and exterior materials, including wood, metal, ceramics, plaster, paint, textiles, concrete, masonry
Product news	Glass and sun protection; interior finishing (incl. modular design); barrier-free access	Surfaces; flooring (incl. adhesives, fastening); sanitary fac./bathrooms	Outdoor spaces (incl. parking systems), lights, software	Roof; timber construction; balconies/loggias	Facades; solar shading; structural waterproofing
db-Metamorphose		1980s			Digging deeper
Description		The buildings from this period are now due for major modernisation – a massive task for architects.			Underground extensions to existing buildings are particularly technically demanding and require high-quality building materials.

Description	We are dedicating a special issue to energy-efficient refurbishment, repurposing, conversions, extensions and heritage conservation again – in addition to our db-Metamorphose issue, which is published 4 times a year.	Educational institutions are in a state of flux due to digitalisation, flexible learning models and the creation of inclusion schemes and are in desperate need of renovation, from childcare centres to universities.	How can new infrastructure concepts contribute to the sustainable and social development of cities? What role do today's transport buildings play in the built environment and how are they designed?	Is it possible to create more affordable yet high-quality housing by saving space and materials through modular or optimised architecture in the sense of circular building?	In December, we once again invite you on a voyage of discovery to the editors' favourite projects. All projects will be presented under db's usual critical eye.
Sectors, in line with the theme of the issue	Insulation, building in existing contexts, renovation, roofs, HVAC, fire protection, balconies and loggias	HVAC, facades, daylight systems, lights, acoustics, fire protection, modular design, fittings, barrier-free building, design engineering, timber construction, metal and steel construction	Outdoor spaces, parking systems, e-mobility, street furniture, software, security technology, building automation, energy and traffic concepts, design engineering	Floor plans, interior design, low-tech, balconies and loggias, facades, solar shading, timber construction, wood materials and systems, sound and fire protection, kitchens, bathrooms, new materials, recycling, modular design	Facades, roofs, all materials for the building envelope, interior finishing, outdoor spaces, surfaces

AD/MD	10.01.2024	01.03.2024	29.04.2024	10.06.2024
Theme	Office: How do you measure sustainability in office buildings? Is it compliance with relevant standards? Is it the use of reclaimed materials? Or is it adaptability and longevity? Colour: Whether wallpaper, carpets or tiles, patterns are back in style. At the same time, the trend towards monochrome minimalism continues unabated. md juxtaposes examples of both trends with their style-forming elements from residential building and the hospitality sector. Education: Germany's educational landscape does not make for good headlines. However, there are many buildings in which young and old can enjoy a high quality of learning and living. md collects showcase projects and examines the role of light in modern learning environments.	Hotels: Guests expect a sustainably designed environment. md examines how the industry's environmental standards are defined and presents long-term solutions: from lighting to flooring to bathrooms. Kitchens: When it comes to the design of the cooking centre, the dimensions vary from the XXL eat-in kitchen to the XXS built-in niche. Which materials, appliances and fittings create a coherent, personalised look in each dimension? Lighting: Intelligent lighting technology versus rebound effect: How can we ensure that increased consumption does not cancel out efficiency gains in lighting design? With innovations and trend themes from Light & Building.	Office: In addition to space efficiency, soft factors are becoming increasingly important. From holistic planning with acoustics, light and air to architectural and colour psychology. They give a new quality to regular workstations, meeting and conference areas. Sanitary facilities: The desire for a higher quality of living often leads to more colour in the bathroom. md informs about modern building blocks, especially for renovations: from bathtubs to XXL shower trays, from attractive fittings to holistic sanitary collections. Health buildings: Nowhere is the subconscious perception of space more important than in medical practices and clinics. What subtle design elements can reduce anxiety and promote recovery?	IMPACTFUL MATERIALS! SPECIAL ISSUE "MATERIAL WIRKT" in cooperation with db deutsche bauzeitung Interior design and architecture are closely related disciplines. This special issue focuses on showcase projects. Whether living and enjoying art in brickwork, working in metal and glass or studying in wood, what the projects have in common is that they have been consistently planned and realised with an eye to materials, both inside and out. From trends to processing issues, from sustainability impulses to product presentations: Supplementary articles underpin the examples shown and provide a glimpse of future topics.

Theme	Flooring: Choosing the right floor for a building means looking for durability, longevity and healthy raw materials. Floors are increasingly becoming an expression of a company's CI. The trend is towards more opulent patterns and stronger colours. Just a fad? Sustainability: How do we want to live tomorrow? Statistics point to growing urbanity - but rising rents and living costs are encouraging people to live in the country. md puts the spotlight on urban and rural living and working spaces. Social interior design: Interior design can help people feel at ease: in healthcare facilities and offices, in social housing and temporary accommodation. How do you manage the balancing act between tight budgets and social responsibility?	SPECIAL ISSUE KITCHENS Whether indoors or out, the cooker is at the centre of the action. This special issue showcases projects, products and personalities that exemplify how to create a useful, elegant and fitting environment for cooks and guests. With contributions from the fields of technology, design and impressions from a variety of living environments!	Office (Orgatec trade-fair issue): Agile working requires organisational structures that allow employees more personal responsibility, independent action and fast communication. But are furniture on castors and battery-powered devices enough to enable people to be mobile on site as well as in their minds? Acoustics: Focus zones are considered to be crucial to successful office design. Can an open-plan office provide this, or does partial retreat into the home office or individual offices prevail? md investigates which acoustic measures facilitate concentrated work. Digitalisation: No online service has seen such a rapid increase in visitors as ChatGPT. How do advanced programmes help interior designers, planners and designers in their daily work? Do they threaten jobs – or create new business potential?	Personalities: Through the decades: As the magazine prepares to celebrate its 70th anniversary in January 2025, md portrays interior architects, designers and creatives who have ventured into the profession in different decades. Living: Living space is becoming increasingly scarce, especially in large cities. As a result, concepts for small spaces are in demand. From the kitchen to the living room to the bathroom, stylish accents can be set even in limited spaces. Sustainability: Natural materials are on the rise in interior design. md brings together exemplary applications of well-known materials paired with forward-looking material innovations – from vegan leather to CO2-reduced steel to recycled concrete.

md Flurfunk 2024

Season 3

Similar to an impromptu chat at the watercooler, established interior designers and planners share their secrets of success in an interactive online talk with the md editorial team.

YOU DON'T BECOME AN INTERIOR DESIGNER TO GET RICH!

With this webinar format, md invites interior designers to talk about their everyday work. What all the participants have in common is their special love for their profession. Topics such as "Negotiating with confidence", "Flirting with the cliché" or "Opening an office" encourage listeners to try something new.

The companies sponsoring Flurfunk show how important interior designers are to them, that they are their partners and support them as consultants.

- + Replay of the recorded video statement "Why are interior designers important to us as partners?" during each talk
- + 4 PR releases in each exclusive invitation newsletter
- + Prepared lists of attendees
