.LIVING

Even in times of minimalism, the longing for individual, identity-driven living spaces remains strong. This issue explores how carefully chosen design elements contribute to a personal interior – and how smart-home technologies can discreetly enhance everyday comfort and convenience.

.LIGHTING

The lighting sector is currently shaped by two key trends: heightened awareness of circular business models and advances in technology. These open up new possibilities for interior architects to create tailored concepts for energy efficiency, health and comfort.

.KITCHEN

Centred around the heart of the home, a dialogue unfolds on how social interaction can be fostered in private living environments. Thoughtfully selected fittings, appliances, taps and accessories turn the kitchen into a welcoming meeting place.
