.SPECIAL EDITION

Now in its fifth edition, the special issue „Material wirkt“ once again brings together the editorial teams of md interior design architecture and db deutsche bauzeitung to explore both interior and exterior spatial concepts. The focus is on achieving a holistic understanding of materiality, considering everything from composition and tactile qualities to colour and atmosphere. Sustainable concepts, building within existing structures and innovative materials form the common thread across all projects. The issue is published with a dual cover.

.PROJECTS

A curated selection of projects illustrates how materials can be used with purpose. From residential spaces to workplaces and learning environments – exterior design and interior quality are carefully aligned.

.PRODUKTE

The product feature explores how materials and surfaces create a harmonious overall composition. At the same time, it reveals how materiality can subtly influence spatial perception and lend atmosphere its distinct character.
